A VOCATION PRAYER

Although we don't know when this world will end, we do know that the end is always drawing closer. We do not have forever to answer God's call. If God is calling you to a Church vocation, call Fr. Andrew Lauricella at 716-847-5535. You can also check out the "Priest of the Month" stories on our website – www.buffalovocations.org!

MONTHLY REFLECTION

Much writing about the family, for example in letters of the Pope and bishops, emphasizes the mission or tasks of the family – what the family should do, and what we expect of families.

But the intention of this month shifts a bit to what we should do for the family to make their mission possible. This is important because we know the many challenges facing the family today. We see photos of children separated from parents, homeless and refugee children, and the tyranny of the cellphone which interrupts family conversation.

So it is appropriate and indispensable that we pray in accord with the Pope's intention that today's families may be accompanied with love, respect, and guidance. To accompany means to support, encourage, walk with and stand up with and for families.

Who can do this? I think of Church and civil authorities, but first of all, I look to the family itself and to other families. It starts there, with grandparents, relatives and friends. In accepting the sacrament of matrimony, every Christian family pledges to be a sign, witness, model and encouragement to accompany to other families. The sacrament gives grace and power to do this in imitating the Holy Family.

-With love by reaching out, helping if there is need, by sharing wisdom and experience.

-With respect, not interfering, but assisting; not replacing, but honoring. The Catholic Catechism (#2219) speaks of respect IN the family for the old and young, the weak and the strong.

-With guidance, by setting a good example for other families, and by praying for God's Spirit to guide their members.

CARE FOR CREATION

Fair Trade, especially through Catholic Relief Services, is a wonderful opportunity to shop with the environment and our sisters and brothers in poorer countries in mind. You can purchase ethically made promotional products, clothing, and jewelry. Pope Francis encourages us all to live more simply in ways that are life -giving for creation and the humans who share this planet with us. Ethical shopping eliminates mindless impulse buying of products we don't need. Our shopping is less likely to harm the environment and more likely to benefit people. LOW GLUTEN HOST

Low-gluten altar breads that contain less than .01% gluten are available. Please let Fr. Mario know before mass that you will need one.
